Autumn 2024

Glencoe's Frank Lloyd Wright Cottage Museum: Its History and Future

It's the Glencoe Historical Society's story of the "Big Save": how, at almost the last minute, GHS was able to work with the village and the park district to find a new site for a Frank Lloyd Wright-designed summer home that was being readied for demolition—and also raised more than $350,000 to move and relocate the historic building.

Built in 1913, the cottage was moved in July 2020 to its current location in Park 7N at the corner of Meadow and Maple Hill roads.

What happens next? A panel of GHS members will brief the community on the extensive restoration of the exterior of the cottage and the reasons for renaming it Ravine Bluffs Cottage. They also will outline the remaining steps necessary to complete the interior (shown to the left) renovation so that what was a family dwelling can become a museum focused on Wright's work in Glencoe. This program is cosponsored by the Glencoe Historical Society.

A Bend in the River is the tranquil-sounding setting for V.S. Naipaul's controversial masterpiece. It's told from the point of view of Salim, a shopkeeper of Indian origins who bears witness to upheaval as European colonizers exit an unnamed country in central Africa. Naipaul published A Bend in the River in 1979 and won the Nobel Prize in Literature in 2001. Holly Marihugh returns to lead this four-week guided discussion series. Registration required.

THE GREAT WAR AND PEACE* READ-ALoud OF 2024

Saturday, October 5, 10:00 a.m.–2:30 p.m.
AT WRITERS THEATRE LEARN MORE

In 1812, a comet streaked across Russian skies. In 1869, Leo Tolstoy made it a plot device in his literary classic War and Peace. In 2012, Dave Malloy adapted 70 pages of the book into the musical Natasha, Pierre & the Great Comet of 1812 (playing at Writers Theatre this fall). And in 2024, the library, Writers Theatre, and the Woman's Library Club of Glencoe team up for a marathon community read-aloud of those 70 pages.

Attendees are welcome to participate as a reader and/or listener and to come and go over the course of the event. For information about signing up for a five-minute reading slot, fill out the form on the library's website. Listeners do not need to register.

MONDAY AT THE MOVIES

Mondays at 1:00 p.m. IN LIBRARY

September 16: Perfect Days

German master Wim Wenders (Wings of Desire, Buena Vista Social Club) loves Japan and it shows in this inspired story about a Tokyo man going contentedly about his work, simple pleasures, and the quiet business of his everyday life. Lovely, funny, even profound. 124 minutes. In Japanese with English subtitles.

October 21: The Old Oak

Apparently the last film of the great English director and social realist, Ken Loach, The Old Oak has him on familiar ground, telling a story about the travails of common people. In this case, the struggling characters are the residents of a small English town of diminishing economic fortune, as well as a group of Syrian refugees. As usual, Loach's work is deeply felt and has an almost documentary sense of reality. 114 minutes.

November 18: Wicked Little Letters

Somebody is writing poison pen letters in the English coastal village of Littlehampton. Pious spinster Edith Swan (Olivia Colman) is the outraged recipient, while her rather less pious neighbor Rose (Jessie Buckley) is the all-too-easy scapegoat. Colman and Buckley are excellent as the embodiment of false propriety and salty honesty, respectively, in this satirical comedy. 100 minutes.

Meet the Staff

RACHEL GEDDES

It has been my genuine pleasure to call Glencoe home for the last 10 months. To say the people who live here and the town itself are wonderful would be an understatement. A huge thanks to my fantastic library coworkers and my neighbors for their warm welcome.

They say the truth will set you free, so I think it is important to start with this: I like long walks on short piers and saying “capybara,” and I think cupcakes are muffins who believed in miracles.

Now that is out of the way... I am originally from Dallas and graduated from Southern Methodist University with a bachelor’s in anthropology and international relations. I spent several years in Colorado’s stunning Roaring Fork Valley before moving to the Denver area, where I worked in healthcare. I am currently working on a master’s degree in elementary education.

Please stop by the Checkout Desk and say hello! If you need book recommendations, I’ll direct you to our talented librarians for ideas—unless you’re looking for board books. My reading repertoire these days consists almost exclusively of what I read with my niece (and sidekick) Sophie, who is almost two. We prefer board books with “peek-a-boo” flaps.
